OVER SITE FOR BRIDGE New Structure, but Disagree

Members of House Committee Favor on Location.

A hearing on the Carlin bill for a $1,500,-000 Aqueduct bridge to replace the present structure at Thirty-sixth and M streets was held yesterday by the House Inter-state and Foreign Commerce Committee. It was indicated that while members favor the new bridge, the site may cause a battle, as several locations are under consideration, among them that of the present bridge, a possible bridge from Thirty-fourth street to Rosslyn, and a third route from the foot of H street by way of Analostan Island to Rossiyn.
Representative Adamson, chairman

the committee, favored payment by Virginia of part of the cost of the bridge. This was not taken to kindly by Representative Carlin and his Virginia asso-ciates, who said Virginia would not pay for a government bridge. It was suggested that Virginia, the United States, the District, and the railroad which uses the bridge each pay one-fourth. This was objected to as requiring too many bosses. Representative Adamson intimated the War Department favors a site farther east. This, Mr. Carlin said, would be ruinous to Washington.

Whatever action is taken will be after the War Department has given its view
